The Associated General Contractors of America's Supervisory Training Program (STP) is a construction-specific training curriculum developed, updated and field-tested by and for contractors. Supervisory skill – or the lack of it – directly affects every company's bottom line. You make your money in the field, and STP can help you improve your organization's bottom line.

STP focuses on the knowledge and skills every supervisor must have to be an effective manager of people, time, equipment and materials.

The Communication session presents a body of knowledge and skills that today's construction supervisors need in order to be effective communicators on their job site:

- Effective communication
- Learning to listen
- Carrying on conversations
- Persuasion, negotiation, and confrontation
- Communicating with your crew
- Putting it in writing
- Meetings that work
- Electronic communication
- Improving communication

Who should attend? Field superintendents, foremen, assistant project managers, and project managers

About the instructor – Rob has worked in the construction industry as a safety professional for over 20 years in various roles. His desire for safety improvement matched with his love for technology led him to start exploring the benefits of technology for safety. Rob is currently the Director of Safety Services for AGC Georgia.
