About Us:

At Piedmont Construction Group, we strive to foster the well-being of the entire project team in delivering exemplary construction services which exceed the owner's expectations in time, value and quality.

Scott Thompson, Founder

Scott Thompson is a real estate attorney who brings valuable legal expertise to each Piedmont Construction Group project. A graduate of George Washington University, Scott received a Doctor of Jurisprudence from Vanderbilt University's School of Law. In addition, Scott holds a Master's of Science Degree in Real Estate Development from Columbia University. He currently serves as General Counsel and CEO of Piedmont Construction.

David Thompson, Founder

David is an award-winning construction executive who brings more than 27 years of industry experience to the company. David holds a Bachelor's Degree in Building Science from Auburn University, and a Master's Degree in Business Administration from Georgia State University. His previous positions ranging from estimator to program manager to construction manager with McDevitt & Street, as well as Beers Construction. He currently heads up the company's marketing division.

David Moore, President

David has successfully led teams on numerous projects throughout Middle Georgia and holds dual Bachelor of Science degrees in Construction Engineering and Construction Management from Georgia Institute of Technology. He brings nearly three decades of practical construction experience to Piedmont Construction Group, including a background in project management, general contracting and design-builder roles. As company president, David supervises construction activities for the region, directly facilitating projects with owners, construction team members, and sub-contractors.
