Technology Lunch & Learn

What's new in the construction technology space for 2023?

Offering both virtual and in-seat participation

AGC Georgia
The Construction Association

As construction technology evolves at lightning speed, and advancements in software and jobsite apps evolve exponentially, the options available for contractors seem to be endless. It is difficult to know every technology option out there or try every new solution that your team is requesting to use.

Come hear from peers already using certain offerings to help you make decisions on which new app, hardware and/or software options make sense for your specific needs. In this sharing environment, fellow members will guide you through their lessons learned and you can hear from some specific technology reps who will be on hand, as well.

While, we'll have time for the four presenters shown to the right to share their technology, there will be plenty of time for members to freely share where they've found success in the industry's tech market and where they need advice.

To jump start the day's discussion, we'll have conversations on the following areas of focus and see where the discussion leads us!
1) Forms, QR codes, and integrations (Nyfty)
2) Contract document search (Document Crunch)
3) Equipment Tracking (Tenna)
4) Asset, Equipment, and Staff Tacking (BitRip)
