The Associated General Contractors of America's Supervisory Training Program (STP) is a construction-specific training curriculum developed, updated and field-tested by and for contractors. Supervisory skill – or the lack of it – directly affects every company's bottom line. You make your money in the field, and STP can help you improve your organization's bottom line. STP focuses on the knowledge and skills every supervisor must have to be an effective manager of people, time, equipment, and materials.

The Improving Productivity and Managing Project Costs session covers understanding how project estimates are compiled, how to compare actual project costs with those estimated and how to control costs to meet the estimate. This course also details how productivity is measured, how the supervisor plays a major role in increasing jobsite productivity and how a small increase in productivity can have a significant impact on the time and cost of a project.

- Construction estimates
- Who controls project costs
- Reporting and analyzing actual costs
- Improving productivity through pre-planning
- Cost control strategies
- Labor cost variances
- Working with project partners
- Managing risk and loss potentials
- Post-project evaluations
- Benchmarking construction productivity

Who should attend? Field superintendents, foremen, assistant project managers, and project managers

About the Instructor – Dr. Holtzower has taught at the University level for 9 years and is heavily involved in student competitions, industry events with AGC Georgia, and student success. He has 9 years of professional construction experience including commercial construction management, electrical contracting, and management experience with a fire protection contractor.
