AGC Georgia's Skills Challenge Competitions

Planning groups making a difference at the seven regional events

The AGC Georgia Skills Challenge series was a big hit in 2021 with over 1,900 student competitors and student observers from over 80 schools attending. The series returned to Augusta, Cedartown, Gainesville, Macon and Moultrie with Marietta and Statesboro hosting their first Challenges. The core competitions for the Challenges are Carpentry, Electrical, Masonry, Plumbing, and Welding with Blueprint Reading, Roofing, Fine Furniture/ Woodworking, HVAC, and other disciplines being offered at select Challenges.

Former Skills Challenge Participant Grows into Professional Superstar

The AGC Skills Challenges can be life changing when companies go all-in. Payton Greer of JCI Contractors can prove it.

Greer first met her future employer at a previous Skills Challenge and competed in Blueprint Reading in addition to Carpentry in 2017 and 2018. With multiple challenges under her belt, Greer has continued to grow her skillset and leadership capabilities.

“They took notice, and I took notice while I was pushing myself in the Challenge until they finally said, “Welcome to the team!” Greer explained. “Now, I’ve been with the company for nearly two years.”

Since Greer knows the importance of the AGC Georgia Skills Challenges firsthand, she single-handedly raised over $30,000 for the 2021 Skills Challenge in Moultrie.

“We normally have the whole office working on it, but she took it and ran it this year,” JCI Marketing Director Ashby Autry said. “Her passion for Skills Challenges has been instrumental in pulling this year’s challenge together.”

Industry Staple Fred Hill Passes Knowledge to Next Generation

Ogeechee Technical College’s Adult Education Program has found a good friend in The Sack Company Human Resource Manager Fred Hill.

Hill recently shared his career insights and life experiences with current and future Adult Education Program students housed at Bulloch and Screven County Correctional facilities as part of the school’s Student Success Speaker Series.

While speaking to the students, Hill shared opportunities that they can take advantage of while incarcerated and upon release. He emphasized that there are many companies, like The Sack Company, who believe in second chances for those who are willing to work hard and commit to learning and growing with the company.

Samantha Smith, dean of adult education at Ogeechee Technical College, said the insight that Hill has provided students is invaluable.

“The Adult Education Program has been appreciative of the support that we have received from Mr. Fred Hill,” Smith said. “His insight will help our students as they work to achieve their educational goals.”

Toombs County High School Class Takes Field Trip to McLendon Enterprises

As one of the local industry leaders supporting the new piloted career path at the Toombs County High School, McLendon Enterprises, Inc. (MEI), was pleased to host the new Toombs County High School's Heavy Equipment Operations class on a field trip to one of its local projects.

Tom Broadnax, the teacher over the class, contacted the MEI Safety Director to request a local job site visit. Tim Adams, project manager over the new concrete installation at the Vidalia Airport, agreed to the site visit and with three groups of young teenagers. He explained the history of the airport, the reason for the new updates, and each step in the process. The class of 27 was instructed that they would be assisting in a safety inspection of the site to look for any type of unsafe actions or conditions that would potentially injure someone or cause property damage.

"It was a fun day watching this young generation see the process of the infrastructure side of construction and to hear their perspective of safety," said MEI IT Support Manager Adam Dupree. "We appreciate the Toombs County High School for trusting McLendon Enterprises, Inc. with this wonderful opportunity."

Jimmy Napier, a construction teacher at Jordan Vocational High School College and Career Academy in Columbus, brought seven students to the AGC Skills Challenge in Macon.

"We absolutely loved the experience," Napier said. "We had two students competing in Carpentry and Electrical, with five of my students observing. After talking with my students and administration, we decided two of my observers would like to compete in Moultrie."

The annual events are held late in the fourth quarter to prepare students for the regional SkillsUSA events in January. Winners of the regional events move on to the state SkillsUSA competitions held each March at the Georgia World Congress Center in Atlanta.

AGC Georgia CEO Mike Dunham said testimonies from teachers like Napier are very important to the mission of AGC Georgia.

"Feedback from our participants reveals how important these events have become in helping students get prepared for the SkillsUSA region and state competitions as well as their long term careers," Dunham said. "It is a testament of our dedication to AGC Georgia's mission of continuing to develop a stronger construction industry by providing members access to the resources and tools they need to improve their businesses."
