AGC Georgia is proud to again invite you a series of Members First meetings dedicated to construction safety. For the sixth consecutive year, we are hosting Ron Amerson Supervisors' Safety Award ceremonies in conjunction with safety programs offered in seven cities across Georgia. Chapter leadership looks forward to honoring our members' safest field supervisors in their own backyard or in a city close to the supervisors' current jobsite.

All company executives, safety directors, and project managers who work with each of the award-winning supervisors are encouraged to join them for their ceremony. As the saying goes, safety starts at the top, and what better way to tell your field supervisors you are proud of their efforts and appreciate their dedication to a safe jobsite than by being present when they receive their award!

You won't want to miss this dynamic presentation, offering a unique perspective into construction site safety and considerations that must be made to ensure your company's active compliance with the laws and standards which govern our industry. With a recent increase in fatal workplace injuries, newly-enacted legislature affecting illness / injury reporting, and a substantial hike in OSHA penalty amounts, the compliance landscape for our industry is currently in a state of evolution. While the safety of employees is rightfully the top priority for many companies, those companies focusing solely on safety, can neglect compliance; leaving themselves exposed to potential OSHA citations, lawsuits and even criminal charges. Safety and compliance play separate, critical roles in the overall success and financial health of a company. Join us, and make sure you know the difference!
